

You're flying to Florida in a plane.
Give 4 carbons to the atmosphere.

You're flying to California.
Give 4 carbons to the ocean.

At dinner you choose the meat entree.
Give 3 carbons to the atmosphere.

You buy a single-use plastic water bottle.
Give 1 carbon to the ocean.

For lunch you eat a hamburger. Meat production uses a lot of fossil fuels!
Give 3 carbons to the atmosphere.

You buy lettuce in a hard, plastic container, which uses fossil fuels.
Give 2 carbons to the ocean.

You drive around town to do your shopping.
Give 2 carbons to the atmosphere.

You drive to Las Cruces.
Give 3 carbons to the ocean.

At the grocery store, you buy apples from New Zealand.
Give 2 carbons to the atmosphere.

You have steak for dinner.
Give 3 carbons
to the ocean.

You take your live Christmas tree to the landfill.
Give 2 carbons
to the atmosphere.

You take your live Christmas tree to
the landfill.
Give 2 carbons
to the ocean.

You throw away your aluminum cans.
Give 2 carbons
to the atmosphere.

You get take-out from a restaurant in styrofoam containers.
Give 2 carbons
to the ocean.

You cut down
an apricot tree.
Give 2 carbons
to the atmosphere.

At a baseball game you drink from a non-reusable plastic bottle.
Give 2 carbons
to the ocean.

You put your laundry in the dryer, using fossil fuels.
Give 2 carbons
to the atmosphere.

At a movie, you buy water in a single-use (non-reusable) plastic bottle.
Give 1 carbon
to the ocean.

You cut down a pine tree in your yard.
Give 3 carbons to the atmosphere.

At the grocery store, you pack your groceries in new plastic bags.
Give 2 carbons to the ocean.

You throw your uneaten leftovers in the trash.
Give 2 carbons to the atmosphere.

You're flying to Colorado for the weekend.
Give 3 carbons to the ocean.

You buy food that is not organic, meaning chemical fertilizers and pesticides were used to grow it.
Give 3 carbons to the atmosphere.

You're flying to Phoenix for the weekend.
Give 4 carbons to the ocean.

You & your classmates put leftover food scraps in the garbage can.
Give 3 carbons to the atmosphere.

The car is left running while you go shopping.
Give 2 carbons to the ocean.

At the grocery store, you buy apples grown & shipped from Washington state.
Give 2 carbons to the atmosphere.

It's family night at the steakhouse. Raising animals for meat uses a lot of fossil fuels.
Give 3 carbons to the ocean.

You throw aluminum cans in the garbage that could be recycled.
Give 3 carbons to the atmosphere.

You get take-out from a restaurant and use styrofoam boxes.
Give 3 carbons to the ocean.

You buy a video game packaged in plastic.
Give 2 carbons to the atmosphere.

You buy steaks for dinner. Raising animals for meat uses a lot of fossil fuels.
Give 3 carbons to the ocean.

Aluminum cans from a party get sent to the landfill instead of being recycled.
Give 3 carbons to the atmosphere.

You and friends get take-out from a restaurant packaged in styrofoam.
Give 3 carbons to the ocean.

You fly to Mexico for winter break.
Give 4 carbons to the atmosphere.

Your milkshake comes in a styrofoam cup, which isn't reusable or recyclable.
Give 2 carbons to the ocean.

You drive to El Paso to go shopping.
*Give 3 carbons
to the atmosphere.

You buy sandwiches packaged in hard plastic containers, which use a lot of energy to produce.
*Give 2 carbons
to the ocean.

On a chilly winter morning you turned the heat on but forgot to turn it off.
*Give 2 carbons
to the atmosphere.

You bought styrofoam cups for a party instead of using reusable ones.
*Give 3 carbons
to the ocean.

After the holiday,
you take your live
tree to the landfill.
*Give 3 carbons
to the atmosphere.

Burning wood in wood stoves releases carbon.
*Give 2 carbons
to the ocean.

You trample plants in your yard.
*Give 3 carbons
to the atmosphere.

You forget to water the plants in your garden & they die.
*Give 3 carbons
to the ocean.

You fly to Brazil for spring break.
*Give 4 carbons
to the atmosphere.

Your milkshake comes in a styrofoam cup.
Give 2 carbons to the ocean.

You drive to Dallas to visit your cousins.
Give 3 carbons to the atmosphere.

You buy salad for dinner, but unfortunately it comes in a hard, plastic container.
Give 2 carbons to the ocean.

At dinner, you choose the hamburger instead of cheese pizza.
Give 3 carbons to the atmosphere.

You buy salad for dinner, but unfortunately it comes in a hard, plastic container.
Give 2 carbons to the ocean.

You drive to Deming to go to the movies.
Give 2 carbons to the atmosphere.

You drive to Las Cruces to go shopping.
Give 3 carbons to the ocean.

Your classroom worm box is under repair so you put your food scraps in the garbage.
Give 2 carbons to the atmosphere.

You cut down a tree in your yard.
Give 3 carbons to the ocean.

You buy oranges from Florida.
Give 2 carbons
to the atmosphere.

It's family night at the steakhouse.
Give 3 carbons
to the ocean.

You ordered several things from Amazon
that need to be shipped from other states.
Give 3 carbons
to the atmosphere.

Your Amazon order came packaged in styrofoam peanuts.
Give 2 carbons
to the ocean.

You ordered several things from Amazon
that need to be shipped from other states.
Give 3 carbons
to the atmosphere.

Your Amazon order came packaged in styrofoam peanuts.
Give 2 carbons
to the ocean.

